

"STATE OF CASEY."

Monday afternoon we left McKinney in company with Rev. W. R. Davidson and drove over to Hustonville, noting some improvements in the homes and business prospects of that town in the little time we were there. Leaving Hustonville, we drove over the pike in the direction of Bradfordsville, landing at the pleasant home of Mr. James Ellis in time for a good supper, daintily prepared by his own excellent lady. Here we tarried but a short time, and being joined by Mr. and Mrs. Ellis, we pushed on to Ellsburg Baptist church, where Bro. Davidson is conducting an interesting meeting since Tuesday of last week. On entering the church Rev. Davidson was much pleased to find present Rev. A. Mobley, whom he pressed into service for the night. The sermon was good and impressive and at its close an invitation to believers was extended and a song sung, when four young people went forward and united with the church. Besides these, one other young lady professed faith in Christ and two young men sought the prayers of the church. Twelve persons have joined the church and many others are under conviction.

We are quietly resting in the palatial home of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Mills. The Ellsburg postoffice is kept in this home and our hostess is the polite and accommodating dispenser of the mails. These good people are preparing to remove to Danville, as is also Mr. Alf. Coulter and his excellent family. By these removals Ellsburg will sustain a business and social loss that will be sadly felt by her numerous citizens.

Miss Mollie Gaddery is teaching the public school here and she tells us that although the attendance for the two months past has been better than usual, yet she can count more than 30 pupils in the district who have not yet been in the school room this term. She thinks the "compulsory" law with its many loopholes, has now become so well understood by the people who do not want to send their children to school, that it is about equal to no law at all on the subject. Let us have a law so perfect in its make up that there can be no evasion of it by those who are inclined to bring up their own offspring in shameful ignorance, when our State is offering liberal education to all her children free.

The firm of Sotherland & Russell, who bought the stock of goods from Alfred Coulter, is stocking up a little and preparing for the fall trade. The new firm enjoys the confidence and patronage of the people here.

We have formed the acquaintance of Lieut. Vincent Peyton, a cousin of Stanford's noted surgeon of the same name. He is quite affable and has a memory of war incidents equal to John Riddpath, the historian. He spent Tuesday afternoon as the guest of our host and hostess and furnished merriment for the company present. In his stories he remembered Lieut. Wm. Adams, of Stanford, with a good one or two. Ask the lieutenant if he remembers the time he slipped through a punchon floor and took refuge with a big black dog, rather than risk an attempt to reach the brush in sight of a few approaching "gray coats." Mr. Peyton enlisted under Col. Wolford, Co. B, Nov. 1, 1861, was promoted to 2nd lieutenant July 1, '63, and again to 1st lieutenant April 10, '64. He was mustered out Dec. 31, '64 and resumed his place among the civil and substantial citizens of Casey, where he has ever since made his home.

Cholera has broken out among the hogs in this section and some farmers are losing heavily by it. Wheat sowing is on, but the progress of the work is greatly retarded by the continued dry weather. Even drinking water is becoming scarce, while stock and wash water is being hauled by many.

We have been a little surprised at the political cast of the voters we have met and heard express themselves since arriving here three days ago. As the I. J. knows we are dyed-in-the-wool prohibitionists, it will not accuse us of manufacturing sentiment for its political opponents when we say that the sentiment here is largely in favor of Mr. Yerkes, touching the race for governor. Some former democrats are open in their avowals to support the republican cause. Now, a word, please: If the shameful conduct of both the democratic and republican parties in Kentucky for the last few months, does not drive many men from each of them and materially increase the prohibition vote in November, we shall attribute the failure to John D. White.

The social event of the season occurs here today, Wednesday. Mr. William Baugh, a young farmer of Illinois, and Miss Lula Hammon, a lovely young lady of this section, will be united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the residence of Robert Ellis, where the young lady is just now visiting. By the way, it is just 26 years ago today, since your correspondent led to the bymenial altar, one of the sweetest little women of the State, noted for its production of pretty ones, etc. In all these years she has bravely proven that we exhibited more real, good sense than we have ever done. Older, yet older than she used to be, at 10,000 blue grass farms wouldn't buy her today. She loves husband, children, books and flowers and the many things that it takes to make home happy. If we don't see her today this will be the first of all the 26 anniversaries of our married life not spent with her.

There is some sickness in this neighborhood, though not of a serious nature. Miss Ruth Mobley, of Powers, was visiting Miss Nannie Mills and Mollie Gaddery, Tuesday. Miss Alice Buchanan, of Hustonville, is visiting Miss Ollie Ellis. Mrs. Eliza Holly, of Powers, is visiting Mrs. Amanda Mills and attending the Baptist meeting here. W. R. Gooch.

KIRKSVILLE.

Quite a number of our society men were initiated into the Elk Lodge at Richmond Friday night.

The meeting at the Gilead church closed Friday night with 26 additions. Baptizing took place Friday afternoon. Beginning with Thursday there will be morning and evening services at the Presbyterian church until after Sunday.

Dr. Oldham has bought Dr. Frye's interest in the drug store of Frye & Middleton. He and Dr. Middleton will put in a line of first-class drugs.

The democratic club here is one of the most enthusiastic in the county. It meets every Thursday night. The members should strive to have the best speakers and to raise the meeting to a high, clean standard.

Dr. Frye will go to Louisville this week to finish his course in dentistry. He will be missed in the community. The members of the Presbyterian church and Sunday school enjoyed a nice little picnic in the woods near Mareling's Mill last Saturday.

We are glad to know that Miss Lottie Farris, who has been quite ill for the past week, was well enough to go back to her school Monday. Prof. Seers returned Monday after a short visit to his family at Waddy. Before coming here he had been principal of the Normal school at Pleasureville for a number of years and is here building up a good school. He comes highly recommended and with the people's help we feel sure he will succeed. Mrs. Grady is seriously ill at her home in the country. Mrs. Moot, of Indiana, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Doc Tevis.

HUBBLE.

W. H. Underwood sold a suckling mule to Jos. Denny for $75.

E. T. Miner has his wagons on all the roads delivering flour from his Lancaster mill.

E. A. White sold his farm of 32 acres to Jim Swope for $900. He will buy property at Wilmore.

The dry weather is getting to be alarming, as it remains so hot and the water supply so short for man and beast.

Plenty of new goods in Hubble now, and a good house for all the old roosters and other poultry, which are in good demand either for cash or in exchange for goods.

J. C. Kubanks and Miss Jennie Perkins were made one in matrimony last Wednesday at the bride's father's in lower Garrard and left at once for his sister's at Rochester, Ill. to be absent about two weeks.

H. M. Spoonamore is rejoicing over another fine girl. Wm. Williams, of Indiana, is at his father's here for a few days. Miss Lizzie Loy and her mother, of Jamestown, are at S. Dunbar's on a visit. Mr. McKechnie and family have moved to his farm, bought of C. P. Underwood, and the neighborhood is glad that a good man has taken the place of the good family we lost when Mr. and Mrs. Underwood moved away. Tom McBeath, of Somerset, was up to attend the Yeager sale and see his farm surveyed, which he bought of Mr. Strother Yeager. Mr. Yeager will move to his son-in-law, John Wood's, for the present. H. C. Taylor and Luther Sutton are taking in the sites of Cincinnati. J. J. Walker is improving his tenant house occupied by Wm. Stanford.

The American Bankers' Association, which met at Richmond, Va., adjourned after appropriating $5,000 for the relief fund at Galveston.

A lame shoulder is usually caused by rheumatism of the muscles, and may be cured by a few applications of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists.

One fare round-trip to Lexington via Southern Railway account Lexington trot, greatest harness racing in the South. Tickets on sale Oct. 1 to 13, inclusive; good to return until Oct. 15. Southern Railway has three daily trains between Louisville and Lexington.

For further particulars inquire of nearest agent of Southern Railway, S. T. Swift, Passenger Agent, Lexington, Ky.; Wm. H. Taylor, Asst. Gen'l Pass Agent, Louisville, Ky.

MILLIONS GIVEN AWAY.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of the great medicine, and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, bronchitis, influenza and a disease of the throat, chest and lungs are surely cured by it. Call on Penny, Druggist, and get a free trial bottle. Regular size 50c and $1. Every bottle guaranteed or price refunded.

LAND, STOCK, CROPS, &C.

James Rigby sold to Jesse Fox a mule for $75.

Mr. Rount bought of various parties 20 calves at $19.

Pair good aged, mare mules for sale. Mark Hardin, Stanford.

O. P. Huffman bought of John Hill a lot of butcher stuff at 30c.

S. M. Owens sold to O. P. Huffman a bunch of butcher stuff at 30c.

E. P. Woods sold to O. P. Huffman a bunch of butcher stuff at 30c.

Beazley Bros. bought in Marion some mixed horses at $35 to $100.

B. G. Gover sold to J. M. Carter a lot of butcher stuff at 30c.

T. C. Rankin bought of various parties seven mule colts at $30.

Lutes & Co. have bought 300 barrels of corn at $1.25 to $1.60 in crib.

O. P. Huffman bought a bunch of cattle of Samuel Dudderar at 30c.

Estray red bull calf, with horns, at my place. R. E. Sallee, Stanford.

W. G. Cowan sold to D. C. Allen a car load of sheep and wethers at $3.50.

E. P. Woods bought of Mrs. Dr. J. B. Owens a bunch of 180-pound hogs at 40c.

E. A. White sold to J. H. Swope 32 acres of land on the Hanging Fork at $30.

A. C. Robinson & Son sold to J. W. Bales, of Madison, 50 cattle at $5.75 and 20 at $4.

Wilkinson & Lyon sold 28 mules to Beard & Carithers, of Lexington, at $55 to $115.

Thos. Pence sold to R. R. Gentry a bunch of hifers at 30c and a cow to E. P. Woods at 20c.

W. H. Murphy bought of J. P. Riffe, W. G. Cowan and others, a car load of hogs at 4 to 10c.

Charles Lutes bought of C. B. Sampson 200 barrels of corn in the field at $1.25 for Nov. 10th.

11 good steer calves for sale. Good color. Call on or address J. M. Reynolds, Waynesburg, Ky.

Will be at Moreland Wednesday, Oct. 10, to buy 100 horse and mule colts, also yearling mules. Will buy cotton and sugar mules. Joe Kindig, Philadelphia.

F. P. Bishop sold to T. J. Hill a pair of two-year-old mules for $125 and 30 sheep at $4.25. He bought of Mr. Hill four yearling calves at $20. Mr. Bishop sold to Sidney Dugbar 50 barrels of corn in the field at $1.65.

COURT DAY.—There were 125 cattle on the market yesterday when only 75 of that number were disposed of at 24 to 40c; hifers brought 30c, calves from $6 to $19; sheep 30c; cows 24 to 26c; pig hogs from $30 to $60; mule colts from $30 to $75. Stock buyers and sellers say this was one of the duller courts ever held here.

Peter Browning sold to D. W. Scott and J. W. Pace the crop of lambs for 1901 from 150 ewes at 54 cents for lambs of 65 pounds and over to go June 15th to 20th; also those of that size to go July 15th to 20th at the same price. At the last period the ewes are to be taken at $4.50 each. Messrs. Scott and Pace also take the clip of wool next spring at 25c per pound—Winchester Democrat.

McKINNEY.

Rev. W. R. Davidson closed a few days meeting at the Ellsburg Baptist church, last Friday night, with 20 conversions.

In, and near town, there were three deaths in two days last week. A child each of Paris Vaught and Horton Givens and the wife of D. C. Allen are the departed.

Rev. Geo. Green preached in the Baptist church Sunday morning, but the much needed rain, which was falling freely at that hour, kept many away.

Born this, Monday, morning to the wife of W. D. Gooch, the McKinney section foreman, a bouncing, big girl. Both mother and child are doing well, but the father is suffering from a sudden attack of injured expectation and can't see why "it" should not have been a boy.

Claude Singleton, of Waynesburg, is visiting relatives here. The Misses Watson, of Crab Orchard, are visiting Mrs. W. K. Hughes. Miss Grider, of Jamestown, is visiting her cousin, Dr. Frank Grider. Miss Mollie Coffey has returned to her Russell county home after several weeks stay here with her sister, Mrs. Dr. Grider.

Mrs. Dr. Green Moore and little Herman Hughes are sick with pneumonia. A little son of Sam Clarkson is seriously ill with a complication of diseases. Elbert Moore who has been down with typhoid fever for six weeks is now able to walk around a little bit. Miss Lula Baugh is also improving after a siege with the same disease.

What most people want is something mild and gentle, when in need of a physic. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets fill the bill to a dot. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists.

RED HOT FROM THE GUN.

Was the ball that hit G. B. Steadman, of New York, in the Civil War. It caused horrible Ulcers that no treatment helped for 20 years. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him. Cures Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Boils, Pains, Corns, Skin Eruptions. Best Pile cure on earth. 25c a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by Penny, Druggist.

ORATORY

From Both Sides at the Same Time, But at Different Places.

SPEAKING.—The county court crowd was furnished with speaking galore yesterday. The republicans, who claimed the court house on account of previous notice of their speaking, refused to divide time with Hon. W. B. Smith, of Richmond, who was here to present democratic views and that gentleman then went to the opera house, which was immediately filled to its capacity, including the gallery, and all were glad that a division was refused, for at the court house was a seething mass of colored and white men at the ratio of 16 to 1 in favor of the former, and it was impossible to remain there in comfort.

After being introduced by Hon. M. F. North, Mr. Smith, in an excellent speech, layed the republicans alive. He said it was strange that the other side, though represented by a U. S. Senator, ex-Congressman and a candidate for Congress, was afraid to discuss issues with a humble citizen like himself.

Pointing to the dark cloud at the court house, he said that the Negro, backed by a few white men who differed from him only in color, was the greatest obstacle in the way of Kentucky's progress. He showed that the republican party is and has always been in league with plutocracy to oppress the poor man. He made a telling speech on the only point that speaking is needed for democracy, the necessity of organizing and going to work. All of the issues of State and National affairs were discussed in a masterly manner. Although he requested that there be no applause, it was impossible to suppress it. His effort will accomplish much good.

In presenting Senator Deboe at the court house, the Gray Girdling assured the audience that he was a great man. Had it not been for this his audience would have never suspected anything of the kind. The strongest point of Deboe's speech, like that of Spencer Dabney's, was a lack of "ideas." He said among other things that the Courier Journal had "attacked Gov. Bradley and I," and that he believed in McKinley's patriotism and "integralism."

Senator Parker, of London, then courted at great length for the edification of the colored brother.

Mr. Williams, the nominee for Congress, then took the stand and the applause was deafening. It was fortunate that the applause preceded his speech for there was no occasion for it after. He said in substance that he was glad to be back in the town, on the streets of which he used to raise h—; that he is now a great doctor; that he never heard of the issues raised by the democrats until recently, and therefore he ought to be sent to Congress.

One or two small boys and a drunken man yelled for Bryan, Beckham etc., while the republican oratory was flowing. This is neither smart nor funny. Those who don't care to hear the speakers, should not attend the speaking.

William J. Bryan, democratic nominee for president, spoke to an enthusiastic crowd that tested the capacity of the big auditorium in Louisville Saturday night. It is the only visit he will make to Kentucky during this campaign and numerous democrats from the State came to Louisville to hear him. Many of these were unable to gain admission to the building because of the multitude. Mr. Bryan touched on most of the issues before the people and ended his speech by urging all democrats to vote for Gov. Beckham next November.

WHAT SHE'D HAVE.—A young Harrison county school ma'am was recently teaching a class in spelling, when the word "husband" was placed on the blackboard. None of the children, however, could pronounce it and in order to help them she asked: "What should I have if I should get married?" The answer was prompt but not what she expected, and she blushed such a brilliant red that the sunlight paled.

CAME NEAR DYING.

"For three days and nights I suffered agony untold from an attack of cholera morbus brought on by eating cucumbers," says M. E. Lowther, clerk of the district court, Centerville, Iowa. "I thought I should surely die, and tried a dozen different medicines but all to no purpose. I sent for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and three doses relieved me entirely. I went to sleep and did not awake for eight hours. On awakening a few hours ago I felt so gratified that the first work I do on going to the office is to write to the manufacturers of this remedy and offer them my grateful thanks and say 'God bless you and the splendid medicine you make.' This remedy is for sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists.

Garrard Hignite, who has been appointed by County Judge T. J. Wyatt to fill out the unexpired term of County Superintendent, caused by the resignation of Fugitive John L. Powers, filed his bond and forwarded it to Frankfort for approval.

LANCASTER.

Mr. J. R. Payne has opened a meat market at the stand vacated by R. E. Thompson, and it is managed by the big hearted Ed W. Norris.

The public should note the fact that the bird law does not expire until Nov. 15. Some are hunting rabbits now and they might accidentally kill a bird.

A democratic club of 30 members was organized at Hattsville Wednesday night with John Gastineau, president, Frank Turner, secretary and Jno. S. Baughman treasurer.

It is certainly bad taste to carry politics into the jury, the seat of justice and the pulpit, but the question is often asked touching on the politics of those holding these sacred positions.

Eld. A. R. Moore, the new pastor of the Christian church, is endearing himself to the people by his earnestness and zeal and the able and logical manner in which he expounds the scriptures.

After blasting four feet into the bed of Sugar Creek, a basin with black bass a foot long was discovered and the fish are plentiful. Mr. Henry Patterson reports this. I give the author so the people can take it for what it is worth. The ladies of the W. C. T. U. are still on the war path and they will suggest names to the city council to be appointed on the night police force to close up the whisky dives. If the right men are appointed the work will be well done.

Mr. W. I. Williams went to Paint Lick Saturday and Mr. J. E. Robinson to Bryantville. They assisted in organizing strong democratic clubs. At Bryantville, Dr. Stedman was elected president, William Baughman, vice president and Ike Dunn, Jr., secretary.

Fuller Hunt, colored, was fined $33, in the police court for a breach of the peace. Hon. W. A. Morrow is billed to speak here in the interest of the republican ticket, on Monday Oct. 22d. It is likely that Senator Blackburn or some one else will be here to measure swords with him.

Judge Hemphill has returned from Paducah. Mr. G. B. Swinebroad has been to Lebanon on professional business. Messrs. Ed Minor and Harry Anderson have not been well for a few days. Mr. James Maret, of Mt. Vernon, was in our city last week, and went from here to attend the Kentucky Telephone Association. Mr. J. W. Poor has been ill but is improving, after submitting to an operation. Mrs. Mattie Busby, of Williamsburg, is here with relatives. Mr. Herbert Kinsaid will soon go to Montgomery, Ala., to accept a position. Wm. West, Jr., will go to London, Ky. soon.

A larger crowd than ever before attended the Gilbert Club on Saturday night and many new members were enrolled. Jailer David Ross was elected sergeant-at-arms, which insures good order. Chairman Joe Robinson introduced Hon. J. Mort Rothwell as Garrard's gifted orator. Considerable applause greeted him as he appeared before the club and for more than one hour he defended democratic principles and poured hot shot into the republican camp in a manner that was highly gratifying to his audience. He handled trusts and imperialism in a clear, logical and convincing manner. Mr. Rothwell was especially strong in his denunciation of republican misrule in Kentucky and the abuse of the pardoning power during Gov. Bradley's administration. He said that Kentuckians are now ashamed of their State when abroad, and that this state of affairs was brought about by the republican party.

A LETTER FROM SQUIRE BAILEY.

TEXAS, Oct. 7, 1900.—I will drop you a few lines from my new home in Washington county. I always thought Washington a greater name than Lincoln and have about concluded Washington county is a greater county than Lincoln because it has more democrats. Springfield, the county seat of Washington county, is a town of 1,200 inhabitants. There is more business done in it than any town of its size in Kentucky. There are 14 groceries, one general store, four dry goods stores, four hardware stores, two millinery establishments, two drug stores, one agricultural store, three blacksmiths, one picture gallery, one hotel and three private boarding houses, two coal merchants, three dentists and six doctors, one planing mill, one flouring mill, two clothing houses, one tin shop, one opera house, one carriage repair shop, two livery stables, two tobacco rehandling houses, two jewelry houses, one news stand, five saloons, all seem to be doing a paying business. Water and electric plant nearing completion, one railroad with the prospect of another in the near future, two flourishing schools, five churches and 12 attorneys.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For President,
WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN,
Of Nebraska.

For Vice-President,
ADLAI E. STEVENSON,
Of Illinois.

For Governor,
J. C. W. BECKHAM,
Of Nelson.

For Congress,
GEORGE G. GILBERT,
Of Shelby.

A CAREFUL study of the political situation shows conclusively that if tomorrow were election day, Beckham would be chosen governor of Kentucky and Bryan president of the United States by satisfactory majorities. This statement is based upon reliable polls and the estimates of those great metropolitan dailies, which do not allow their news reports to be distorted to comply with their wishes. The republicans from their point of view are fully aware of the gravity of the situation, and thereby hangs the tale to be adorned with the view of pointing a moral. Whatever else may be said of that party it can not be charged with a lack of recuperation. It has frequently snatched victory from the jaws of defeat, and is even now exerting its best energies to accomplish what very thing. No stone is being left unturned that may by any possibility tend to avert the impending defeat. Hanna, like an old-time bandit, is flying over the country from one end to the other, levying tribute upon the office-holders and those grudging monopolies, whose existence depends upon the retention of the republican party in power, and they are liberally responding to his demands. With the exception of drawing their salaries, the public officials have abandoned their positions and are traversing the country, from stump to stump, entreating the voters in sweetest tones to save them from the wrath to come. It is needless to say that these efforts count, and if the democratic party by reason of over-confidence lets up in the gallant fight so far made, there will be danger ahead. THE INTERIOR JOURNAL now wishes for a thousand tongues to warn them against the folly of such procedure, to remind them of the race between the tortoise and hare, and to entreat them to meet the energetic struggle of the opposition with a corresponding energy and determination. It is much harder to organize the democratic than the republican party. With the latter the only requirement is a blast and plunge from the bellwether and the whole flock, white and black, immediately follow in its pathway, but with the democrats the tendency is to lead and not to follow, and it is a sad fact that the right of suffrage is frequently neglected by those competent to exercise it, but by the incompetent, never. The greater effort should therefore be made to organize for the coming conflict. Let every man appoint himself a committee of one to see in the first place that he, himself, does his whole duty and then begin missionary work among his neighbors. Every one, no matter how humble, has influence with some one else and now is the time of all times to exert that influence for the salvation of the country. We are confronted with a crisis, State and National. The local issue is, whether or not the State shall be abandoned to Taylorism or kept in the hands of those who have guided it safely through the past and earned for it its pristine glory. The meaning of Taylorism is too well-known to require a definition here, but in the future lexicon it will be defined as the lowest depth of infamy. The same "irrepressible conflict" confronts us in the National race that arose in the beginning between Jefferson and Hamilton. The former, a disciple of that school in France whose teachings culminated in the French Revolution's liberating the people from many of the iniquities incident to the divine right of kings, favored a government of the greatest good to the greatest number, of all possible liberty, while his great rival, Hamilton, a royalist of the most pronounced type, thought the best possible government was that of "the mailed hand." In the respective teachings of Bryan and McKinley we have the logical growth of the views of Jefferson and Hamilton. Latter day tendencies clearly show that if McKinley is elected, the wind sowed by Hamilton will be reaped in the shape of a whirlwind; but if Bryan is chosen, we may confidently expect a fulfillment of Lincoln's prophecy, "That government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

THE latest and most amusing, if not the most disgusting, feature of the republican campaign is the frequent capture of the correspondence of prominent Filipino leaders, which is cabled over we presume at the cost of $2.87 per word to the government, and the tenor of which is that if McKinley is elected, the insurrection will immediately subside, and that it is only sustained by the hope of Bryan's election. If McKinley wants to make capital out of the Philippine war, he had better instruct his troops to go to capturing the leaders themselves instead of their correspondence.

THOSE Filipino letters that our troops are capturing are so strikingly similar in their diction and reasoning to the orations of Cicero Hanna, that one of two conclusions is inevitable; he is either the author of them himself or small minds, like great ones, run in the same channel.

A RESIDENT of the Indian Territory has wagered $50,000 that Bryan will be elected. Unless the man with whom he made the wager pleads the baby act, he will on the 7th of November next be well prepared to keep the wolf from his door.

HANNA wants to know if Bryan is really a friend of the working man. He is indeed; in fact he is almost as great a friend of the working man the year around as Hanna is just before elections.

THOMAS B. REED is going to reside at Oyster Bay. The republican campaign committee, as the last resort, should endeavor to get the oyster-catchers to prize his mouth open.

THE republicans of the 6th district have nominated W. McDonald Shaw for Congress. Mr. Shaw's first exclamation after learning the result of the election will be pshaw!

IF the General Assembly fails to pass a fair election law, the blame must lie with the republicans and the few Senators claiming to be democrats, who have sold out body and soul to them. The House bill is fair and contains all the concessions to which the republicans were entitled. It deprives the election boards of judicial powers and guarantees a fair and honest division of the election officers, besides representation upon election boards. But it is not a fair law that the republicans and their purchased allies crave. Their desire is to secure advantage and failing, to prevent a change in the Goebel law, which they will continue to use to their advantage with the ill-informed voter before the election and to their further advantage during and after it. We had hoped that the Legislature would pass an acceptable law to the majority, satisfied that it would aid in democratic success, but rather than have a law dictated by the republicans and those they have bribed, we infinitely prefer to have the Goebel law, never half as bad as its enemies claim, remain forever on the statute books.

WHEN John G. Carlisle was elected to the United States Senate, one W. W. Dickerson was chosen to succeed him in the House from the 6th district. He rattled around in the distinguished statesman's seat like a dried pea in a pod for a term or two and then dropped with a dull thud out of politics. We had almost forgotten that there was ever such a man till we saw his name in the Louisville assassination organ coupled with a gleeful statement that he had decided to take the stump for Yerkes. This seems to be the natural course of men who are honored beyond their deserts by the democratic party, unless that party continues to keep them on the pay-roll. There was no earthly prospect of Mr. Dickerson being called from obscurity again by the democrats, so he calls himself to the civil-liberty assassinating party, and will now try to do something extraordinary to convince his new-found friends that he has all the zeal and devotion of a fresh convert.

DISPATCHES to republican papers say that the Beckhmites at Somerset have been thrown into fits of consternation by the action of Q. H. Waddle in registering as a republican. The so-called Beckhmites are very easy to get panic stricken if they let a small thing like that affect them. Mr. Waddle has been drifting toward the republican party for some time and his final drop causes no consternation whatever, as all who know him regarded it but the natural step of a man who had gotten too good for his party. But the incident is not worthy the space to tell about. We only mention it to show how the republicans make mountains out of mole hills.

In his deposition in the Youtsey case taken at Indianapolis, Fugitive Taylor denies all knowledge of a conspiracy to kill Mr. Goebel; a very natural course for a criminal to pursue. The man who would enter such a conspiracy as Taylor acknowledges by flight that he did would not hesitate to perjure himself, the latter crime dwindling into insignificance when compared to the former. The deponent further says that when he went into the secretary of State's office after the shot was fired he found Henry Youtsey there with a gun, which, if true, shows that Youtsey's prospect of saving his neck is decidedly gloomy. Bring on another rope.

THE latest and most amusing, if not the most disgusting, feature of the republican campaign is the frequent capture of the correspondence of prominent Filipino leaders, which is cabled over we presume at the cost of $2.87 per word to the government, and the tenor of which is that if McKinley is elected, the insurrection will immediately subside, and that it is only sustained by the hope of Bryan's election. If McKinley wants to make capital out of the Philippine war, he had better instruct his troops to go to capturing the leaders themselves instead of their correspondence.

THOSE Filipino letters that our troops are capturing are so strikingly similar in their diction and reasoning to the orations of Cicero Hanna, that one of two conclusions is inevitable; he is either the author of them himself or small minds, like great ones, run in the same channel.

A RESIDENT of the Indian Territory has wagered $50,000 that Bryan will be elected. Unless the man with whom he made the wager pleads the baby act, he will on the 7th of November next be well prepared to keep the wolf from his door.

HANNA wants to know if Bryan is really a friend of the working man. He is indeed; in fact he is almost as great a friend of the working man the year around as Hanna is just before elections.

THOMAS B. REED is going to reside at Oyster Bay. The republican campaign committee, as the last resort, should endeavor to get the oyster-catchers to prize his mouth open.

THE republicans of the 6th district have nominated W. McDonald Shaw for Congress. Mr. Shaw's first exclamation after learning the result of the election will be pshaw!

LITTLE JIMMIE ECKELS, Cleveland's controlled controller of the treasury, says that he can't swallow Bryan. No body ever supposed that a mouse could swallow an elephant.

EX-PRESIDENT HARRISON, in the one speech he has consented to make for McKinley, can hardly undo the damage he has done him by his long silence.

GOV. BUCKNER, who played decoy duck for McKinley in 1896, is just back from Europe, and on his arrival in New York, embraced the first occasion to throw dirt at the party which formerly took delight in honoring him, but which has long since discovered that it had made an idol, but to find the very best clay. He says the only chance of the people of Kentucky to enjoy civil and political liberty is to vote against Beckham and the only hope of true democracy lies in the defeat of Bryan. Despised at home and discredited abroad, Gov. Buckner's words will have no effect on democrats, further than to make them more determined to forever retire such traitors as he to oblivion. If he were not a man of so much intelligence it might be charged that he makes this statement with reference to the Goebel law through ignorance. "Under the law the republicans might carry every county in the State but one, and then the State election commissioners could get together and declare the vote of the State in favor of the democrats, and they could do this without any fear of penalty." The ex-governor knows better. Consequently he subjects himself to the charge of willful perjury. He is perfectly aware that the State election commissioners decided that it had no right under the law creating it, to go behind the returns; that it must simply add up and declare the result. The fact that it gave the certificates to Taylor and his crowd, who had a majority on the face of the returns, shows the untruthfulness of Gov. Buckner's assertions, and brands him as a falsifier. We dislike to speak thus of a brave old Confederate soldier, whom we once revered and admired for the gallant part he took for the lost cause, but we have no patience with turn-coats and traitors, and when our former friends so prove themselves, our love changes to the supreme contempt.

THE republican party was either criminally insincere in the declarations of its platform or its representatives in the Legislature are acting without orders. The platform declares that the "first duty of Kentucky citizenship is to repeal the Goebel law," but the first opportunity presented, the members aforesaid voted almost unanimously against its repeal and a return to the law that it succeeded. This is confirmation as strong almost as proofs of Holy Writ, that the republicans are not honest in their fight against the Goebel law and that they would not repeal it were it in their power. With the Goebel law out of the way, their occupation of deception and abuse of a measure intended to scotch their effort at fraud and rascality would go a glimmering and they would have nothing else to do but advocate and extol their efforts of government by assassination, which they have so fully endorsed.

O. O. STEALY, the Courier Journal's Washington correspondent, now on a tour of personal inspection of the political situation, is very sanguine after a visit to New York and Indiana, that Bryan will carry both of them. He makes this prediction after the most careful inquiry from the best sources of information obtainable on both sides, and his reputation as a reliable man and his correctness in former elections give great weight to his statements, which seem to be corroborated by other reports. At present Mr. Bryan seems to have much more than a fighting chance of election.

It has been all along charged that the republicans were not honest in their alleged desire to have the Goebel law repealed, and the charge has been confirmed. A chance was given them in the Senate to vote for the repeal and a return to the county judge system, and 10 out of 12 voted "No." These men represent the policy of the party and do not wish to take from it its only mainstay in this campaign, the abuse of a law that at its worst is too good for them.

POLITICAL.

The Massachusetts republicans in convention at Boston nominated a full State ticket headed by Winthrop Murray Crane for governor.

Bryan will get one more vote in St. Louis than he would have gotten had not Mrs. Iza McCoy, a coy and winsome widow, made a vote for the great leader of democracy, the price of her hand and heart, after her lover, an ardent republican, had made all other promises in vain. He placed love above politics, and promised, and they were married, to live happily, as the novels say, ever afterward.

The enormous cost of imperialism is shown in the fact that the expenditures for the army alone in September were $14,000,000, which is $4,000,000 more than for the corresponding month of last year, and nearly four times as much as in 1897. Although the war revenue law is still in force and effect, taxing nearly everything, the income of the Government for September fell below the expenditures.

THE YOUTSEY TRIAL.

All efforts to postpone the trial of Henry Youtsey failed and the jury has been completed and the trial is in progress. James Andrew Scott was first called to detail a conversation Youtsey had with him after Goebel was shot, but he was not allowed to testify because Youtsey had consulted him as a lawyer. It is said on reliable authority that if Mr. Scott could be compelled to testify, the whole conspiracy would be laid bare, as Youtsey is said to have told him of the whole proceedings from beginning to end.

HON. R. C. WARREN and Harvey Helm will speak at Danville, Casey county, on Tuesday, Oct. 16th. Be sure to hear them.
